The petition is said to have been signed by 2,500 citizens. Affidavits are being taken of all whose names appear. So far the signatures prove to be forgeries.

On the 5th of June the Montgomery Advertiser contained the following paragraph: "We are requested by the soldiers on duty at this place to state, that at the nigger carpet bag and scalawag meeting held at the capitol on Saturday night, the soldiers gave three groans for Grant, three cheers for McClellan and three cheers for Andrew Johnson. They were given by the soldiers with a hearty good will and rolled from the capitol to the Artesian basin. We are also requested by these soldiers to state that any assertion contrary to this is a base falsehood. The soldiers say they are white men and have no love for carpet baggers and scalawags." In consequence of the above the following order, which appeared yesterday, has been issued by General Shepherd, commanding the Sub-District of Alabama:

[illegible]

The writ of quo warranto served upon Mayor Conway, of New Orleans, is returnable on the 15th inst. Mayor Conway was discharging the duties of his office yesterday. He appointed Robert E. Diamond Chief of Police. The present Chief of Police indorses on the copy of Mayor Conway's order served upon him, that he did not recognize the Mayor's authority as sufficient to remove him, having been appointed by the military commander to serve until further orders. The military orders for his removal not having been issued, he declined to turn over his office to Mr. Diamond or any other person until relieved by competent authority. Mr. Williamson was in possession of the office last evening. All the newly elected aldermen except one and a quorum of assistant aldermen have been qualified. The old Recorder of the Third District refused to vacate without military orders, which were promptly furnished the newly elected Recorder, upon application at headquarters, and in pursuance of which he took his seat and proceeded to business.

The Circuit Court of the United States, at Richmond, Judge Chase presiding, was engaged yesterday in the case of the United States vs. John E. Anderson. Anderson was Collector for the Fourth District, and is charged with being a party to the immense whisky ring and conspiring to defraud the Government. A number of witnesses for the prosecution were examined, giving strong evidence against the accused and implicating the Assessor and Inspector of the district.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

It is expected that the President would send to the Senate to-day the name of O. N. Carter, of New York, as Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Mr. Carter was a cotton broker in St. Louis, and was afterward appointed by Mr. Fessenden, while the latter was Secretary of the Treasury, as Government agent in New Orleans to purchase cotton. He was the author of the purchasing regulations which were adopted by Mr. Fessenden. During the progress of the impeachment trial he strongly favored acquittal, and was apparently on intimate terms with Mr. Henderson. He was present at the time the Missouri delegation had its interview with that Senator. Towards the close of the interview he took part in the conversation, which is referred to as follows in the testimony of one of the witnesses. At this point, Captain Carter said: "Gentlemen, would it not be a good deal better for the radical party if the President should be acquitted, a new Cabinet appointed composed entirely of radicals, and Senator Henderson to have control of Federal patronage for the State of Missouri?" There was an expression from two or three of those present, I think that such an arrangement was impossible, and Senator Henderson and Captain C. replied almost simultaneously that it would be done. Col. McClurg testified to the same thing, except that the Cabinet was to be Republican instead of Radical. Several things of this character are connected with Carter's visit to Washington, and the probabilities are that if sent in, as his friends assert that he will be, that he cannot be confirmed.

Payment of Interest.

The Treasury Department is busy in preparing a schedule for paying the interest on the 5-20s and '81 bonds, which fall due on the 1st of July. The amount of interest which the Government will pay out amounts to thirty-two millions of dollars. The Treasurer here will anticipate the interest and begin payment toward the last of the present month.

Assassination of Prince Michael of Servia.

A Father and Sons the Assassins.

Humane Proposition by the Czar.

Assassination of Prince Michael of Servia.

BELGRADE, SERVIA, June 10.—At five o'clock this morning Michael, the reigning Prince of Servia, while walking in the Fopschodore Park, was shot down by three men, with revolvers. There is great excitement at the assassination. Prince Michael was born September 4th, 1823, and is the youngest son of Prince Miloch. He belonged to the Obrenovitch family, the reigning dynasty in Servia.

LONDON, Noon, June 11.—The following are the particulars of the assassination of Prince Michael of Servia at Belgrade yesterday: The Prince, while walking leisurely through one of the public parks at about five o'clock last evening, was suddenly attacked by three assassins with revolvers. He was accompanied by his cousin and a daughter of the latter, together with his usual attendants. The assassins directed their fire promiscuously at the royal party. At the first shot the Prince fell and expired immediately. The cousin of the Prince was also hit and died in a few minutes. The daughter received a severe flesh wound, but is not dangerously injured. One or two of the suite were also slightly wounded. The assassins were recognized as three brothers. One of them was promptly taken, while hurrying from the scene of the tragedy, and it is thought the others will not be able to escape. Vigorous measures were taken by the authorities for their capture. The assassination produced the most profound excitement and sorrow throughout the country.

LONDON, Evening, June 11.—The last dispatches from Belgrade represent the excitement as intense and unabated. No outbreak, however, has occurred. Two of the assassins of Prince Michael have been arrested. It has been ascertained that it was not three brothers who fired the fatal shots, but a father and his two sons. One of the latter is still at large, but it is believed he cannot escape.

Proposed Abandonment of Torpedoes in War.

PARIS, June 11.—The Moniteur states that the Czar of Russia had made a proposal to Napoleon that Russia and France should unite in an effort to induce all civilized nations to abandon the use of torpedoes and explosive projectiles in time of war. The Moniteur adds that this humane proposition meets with the approval of the Emperor, who, however, thinks it may be necessary to employ torpedoes for defensive purposes.

The Ascot Races.

LONDON, June 11.—At the Ascot races the gold cup was won by Sir Joseph Hawley's colt "Blue Gown," "Speculum" being second and "King Alfred" third. The race was won in 4:30. The all ages stakes were won by Mrs. Bryan's horse "Lancet," five years; "Marly," two years, was second, and "Vespasian," six years, was third. The St. James Palace stakes, for three year olds, were won by the Marquis of Hastings's colt, "The Earl," beating "Restitution."

The Sabbath School Convention—The Closing Proceedings.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

FORT WAYNE, IND., June 11, 1868.

The proceedings of the Convention to-day have been no less interesting than on each of the two first days. In fact each day's exercises have been of the most interesting character, and our citizens who have had the privilege of attending will long remember this year's session of the State Sabbath School Convention. At nine o'clock this morning the meeting was opened with devotional exercises, and a song by the choir of the Second Presbyterian church. On motion the Constitution of the Convention was so altered as to provide that two persons shall hereafter hold the offices of Secretary and Treasurer. Rev. Mr. Eggleston, of Chicago, then gave one of his excellent practice lessons on the subject of how to interest children. A general discussion of the same subject followed, after which Charles Coffin, Esq., of Richmond, pronounced an admirable address on Sabbath Schools, their organization and management.

Then followed the election of officers for the ensuing year, with the following result: For President—Charles Coffin, of Richmond. Vice-Presidents—Wm. Tilson, of Evansville; Charles Hall, of Jeffersonville; J. S. Meyer, of Madison; A. J. Goodlow, of Richmond; H. F. Dickinson, of Danville; James Small, of Bloomington; J. Q. A. Fervin, of Lafayette; A. S. Evans, of Fort Wayne; A. B. Hall, of Warsaw; M. Clarke, of Laporte. Recording Secretary—J. H. V. Smith, of Indianapolis. Corresponding Secretary—Jonathan J. Wright, of Indianapolis. Treasurer—J. E. Osgood, of Indianapolis. After which adjournment was had until 12 M.

The afternoon exercises consisted of devotional exercises, the reports of the Executive Committee, Corresponding Secretary, Treasurer, Publishing Committee, &c. The Secretary's report shows the number of officers and teachers enrolled to be 5,300; number of scholars enrolled 46,791; amount of benevolent contributions $13,092 84.

After that Rev. Mr. Eggleston gave an eloquent and practical address on earnestness, after which the meeting adjourned.

This evening's exercises have consisted of brief but eloquent addresses by ministers and laymen on the subject of Christian labor, followed by the closing and most impressive exercises and final adjournment.

Good Templars' Festival at Lima.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

LIMA, O., June 11, 1868.

A festival was held here last evening at Ashton's Hall, by the Independent Order of Good Templars, and was a grand affair and decided success. It was gotten up for the purpose of raising funds to furnish a hall for the Good Templars, and realized between three and four hundred dollars. From its organization the Lodge has worked great reform here among young men, and is still doing good. Since it was organized several saloons have closed, and the rest are doing a slim business.

Col. C. N. Lamison, of this place, will be a candidate before the Democratic convention of the Fifth District for nomination for Representative to Congress.

THE FENIANS.

The Threatened Raid on Canada—Preparations to Receive the Fenians.

OTTAWA, June 11.—Orders will shortly be issued for the concentration of the royal battalions at their respective headquarters, for the purpose of performing annual drill. A military camp will be stationed at all exposed points.

TORONTO, June 11.—The city authorities received instructions to prepare billets for 15,000 men. This measure is to be acted upon only in the event of volunteers being called out.

The wheat on the prairie lands of Western Missouri is nearly ready for the sickle. It is far more than an average crop, the heads bearing heavily with grain. Old farmers say that for ten years there has been nothing like it. Through the agricultural portion of Kansas, from this point to the mineral regions of the further West the crop is equally promising. The average yield will be thirty-five bushels to the acre, but on some bottom lands it will reach fifty.

EX-PRESIDENT BUCHANAN'S WILL.

Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnson and Rev Edward Y. Buchanan the Principal Legatees.

The will of Ex-President James Buchanan was admitted to probate in Lancaster on Wednesday. The following is the substance of its items:

The 1st section of the will directs that the testator be interred in Woodland Cemetery, in a plain and simple manner and without parade.

The 2d section bequeaths to Harriet Lane Johnston, the niece, and to Rev. Edward Y. Buchanan, the brother, and to J. Buchanan Henry, the nephew of deceased, all the books, plate, beds and bedding, and all the furniture belonging to and in the dwelling house at Wheatland, to be equally divided between them by themselves; they allowing Esther Parker (Mr. Buchanan's housekeeper) two hundred dollars worth of the same free of charge. It is desired by the testator that no inventory or appraisement be made of these articles.

The 4th section gives to Edward Y. Buchanan all the wearing apparel, gold watch, watch chain and seals of deceased.

The 5th section bequeaths to "my valued friend Esther Parker, who has long been a faithful and useful member of my family, the sum of $5,000, which, with $2,000 already given to her, she well deserves, and I commend her to the kindness of all my relatives after my decease."

The 6th section bequeaths to the city of Lancaster "the sum of $2,000, in trust, to employ the annual interest of the same in purchasing fuel for the use of poor and indigent females of the city of Lancaster during the winter season. This bequest is to be incorporated with the fund of $4,000 provided by me some years ago for the same purpose, and is to be administered in the same manner by the city authorities."

The 7th section donates $1,000 to the Presbyterian Church in Lancaster, of which the deceased was a member.

The 8th section directs that all the real estate of the deceased be sold by the executors, when, in their opinion, this will best promote the interests of the residuary legatees.

The 9th section directs that the whole proceeds of the sales of the real estate of deceased with the rent issues and profits thereof, together with all his remaining personal estate of whatever nature or kind it may be, shall be divided and distributed among his relatives in the following proportions: One fourth part of the same is bequeathed to Harriet Lane Johnson, niece of deceased, another fourth part thereof to Edward Y. Buchanan, his brother; it is also desired that neither of these shall be charged with the considerable advancements made to them during the life time of the testator. The one fifth part of the same is bequeathed to J. Buchanan Henry, the child of a deceased sister of the testator.

The remaining portion of the estate of deceased is divided into three equal parts, the first whereof is bequeathed to John N. Lane, and Elliot E. Lane, minor sons of James B. Lane, deceased, and the survivors or survivor of them—another equal third part thereof, is given to Mary E. Dunham, niece of the deceased; and the remaining third part thereof is bequeathed to Maria B. Weaver, Jessie Magaw, James B. Weaver and John B. Weaver, minor children of Jessie Magaw Weaver, niece of deceased.

The legacy to the three minor sons of James B. Lane with its accumulations shall remain in the hands of the executors of the testator until each of them shall severally attain the age of 21, when the amount to which each is entitled shall be paid over to him. The executors shall also retain in their hands the amount of the legacy to the four minor children of Jessie Magaw Weaver, which with its accumulations will be paid to each of them as they severally attain the age of 21. Should it be deemed necessary for the maintenance and education of the two younger of these children, James B. Weaver and John B. Weaver, they may apply the interest or a portion of the principal to this purpose, but under their own immediate direction.

The testator states that "whilst feeling full confidence both in the integrity and business capacity of Edward E. Johnson, the husband my niece Harriet Lane Johnson, I yet deem it prudent to secure to her a maintenance against the unforeseen contingencies of future years. For this purpose I appoint my hereafter named executors, Hiram B. Swarr and Edward Y. Buchanan, or the survivor of them, trustees or trustee, and direct them to retain in their hands, and invest and manage to the best advantage, free and discharged from the debts and control of her said husband, two thirds of the amount bequeathed her as my residuary legatee.

The testator appoints Rev. Edward Y. Buchanan, his brother, and Hiram B. Swarr, Esq., "his trusty friend," to be the Executor of his last will and testament."

The will is dated at Wheatland, January 27th, 1866, and is attested by W. W. Brown and J. W. F. Swift, Esqs.

The Wheatland property is given to Harriet Lane Johnson, niece of the testator, for which she pays $12,000 out of her residuary share of the estate.

The testator bequeaths to Peter Hillyer, Mary Smithgall, and Lizzie Stoner, domestics, each $100.

CODICIL OF THE 9TH OF AUGUST, 1867.

Wm. B. Reed is to have $1,000 to pay the expenses and secure the publication of a biographical work of deceased, and to Mrs. Mary L. Reed, wife of Wm. B. Reed, the deceased gives $5,000, a legacy for her separate use and benefit as a compensation for the work Mr. Wm. B. Reed has undertaken to perform.

All the deceased's private papers, correspondence, etc., are directed to be given to Wm. B. Reed for this purpose.

The will furnishes very little data by which to estimate the whole amount of his property, with any approach to accuracy, but persons who are in a position to form a pretty correct opinion on the subject suppose the estate will amount to about $300,000.

CITY MATTERS.

BRAKEMAN KILLED.—Some time during Wednesday night Edward J. B. [illegible], son of Mr. George Fortune, of this city, and employed as a brakeman on a freight train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, was killed near George's Station, in Westmoreland county. Some time after the train, on which the deceased was brakeman, passed the place mentioned, he was found lying beside the track dead. It was at first stated that he had been thrown from the train by striking a bridge, but as the bridge is some distance west of the spot where he was found, it is probable that he slipped and fell from the train. The deceased was in the twenty-first year of his age, and was highly esteemed. His remains were brought to the city yesterday afternoon.

Charged with Defrauding a Corporation.

John Nusser made information before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, yesterday, charging George Seigrist, agent of the Knickerbocker Life Insurance Company of New York, with a misdemeanor under some section of the Penal Code of Pennsylvania. In 1867, Seigrist was agent for said company in this city, and John Nusser and Ernest Hauck were his bail. Some time towards the latter end of the year mentioned it became known to the bail that Seigrist was a defaulter, and they accordingly had him arrested on a charge similar to that now preferred. Seigrist appeared at the magistrate's office with counsel, and they made it appear that he was only a few hundred dollars behind and that it could be fixed up, and upon these representations the charge was withdrawn and the matter dropped. Subsequently it became known to the company that Seigrist was a defaulter and they sued his bail, Messrs. Nusser & Hauck. The action was heard in the Court of Common Pleas, before Judge Stowe, and a verdict in favor of the Company for the amount of the bail—$1,000—was rendered. Nusser now brings the second charge, under the section of the Penal Code referred to, charging him with defrauding a corporation out of money. A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of officer Fodel, who came over to Pittsburgh to arrest Seigrist. He found him at the corner of Seventh and Grant streets, but Seigrist asked time to go up stairs and put on his coat. His request was granted and he went up stairs, but has not been seen since. The officer after waiting for a while went into the house and after a fruitless search departed.

A Visit to Mansfield.

One of our reporters paid a visit yesterday to the thriving town of Mansfield, located on the line of the Pan Handle Railroad, in Robinson township, five miles from the city, and found it to be in a very prosperous condition. A number of new buildings are going up, and progress is displaying itself everywhere. As everybody knows, a town is not a town without a hotel, and a deficiency in that line in Mansfield has been filled by Mr. Eli Wircoff, an enterprising host. Mr. Wircoff has just completed the hotel, which he calls the "Continental." It is beautifully located on the bank of Chartiers Creek, within a stone's throw of the Pan Handle Railroad station. The Hotel is easily accessible, being located on the Pittsburgh and Noblestown Plankroad, just a pleasant drive from the city. Nine trains on the Pan Handle Railroad stop at Mansfield daily—five going west and six east. The Hotel has been elegantly fitted up, and is now open for the reception of guests for the summer season. The house contains twenty-six rooms, with handsomely fitted parlors. In connection with the hotel are beautiful grounds, through which Chartiers Creek courses, and which are open for the free use of guests. On the bank of the creek, a short distance from the hotel, is a beautiful grove, appropriately named "Sycamore," in which are erected a large platform for the use of parties, swings and other arrangements for the enjoyment of guests. The platform is substantial, and well shaded by trees. The formal opening of the hotel was celebrated yesterday by a grand picnic given in the grove by Mr. Wircoff. The day being a delightful one, the gathering was large, ladies and gentlemen being in attendance from miles around, while the city was well represented among the participants. A string band discoursed fitting music while the lovers of the terpsichorean art "tripped the light fantastic toe." Others enjoyed themselves in different ways—swinging, visiting the creek and woods, etc. An ice cream and sarsaparilla stand located in the grove satisfied the wants of thirsty ones. At six o'clock in the evening the party adjourned to the dining room of the hotel, where an excellent supper had been prepared under the superintendence of Mrs. Wircoff, and of which all partook heartily. After supper they returned to the platform, where the dancing was kept up until a late hour. In fact, the managers, who were Messrs. Wm. Alderson, Thos. Gamble, Wm. Laughlin and A. C. Huxley, did everything in their power for the enjoyment of the party, and their efforts were duly appreciated.

Public Amusements.

LARUE'S MINSTRELS had another good audience last evening at the Opera House, and T. W. Baker, of 88 Fifth street, was the lucky recipient of the fifty dollars in greenbacks. To-morrow the Carnivals will make their last appearance, and make their last distribution of greenbacks, so that those who would improve the time should go to-night. An attractive programme is presented for this evening.

THEATRE.—Manager Aims's combination company gave a fine entertainment last evening, which was well received. A good bill to-night.

THE LAST SENSATION. Mr. Hann's new play, will be presented at the Opera House next Monday evening, with new and gorgeous scenery and appointments.

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

Fourth Day's Proceedings.

The Next Session to be Held tn Pittsburgh.

Resolutions of Thanks—The Manner of Holding Elections—Important Resolutions adopted.

The Convention met at nine o'clock Thursday morning, Bishop Kerfoot presiding.

After the religious exercises, the minutes of the previous session were read and approved.

The Bishop announced that under the rules the unfinished election of yesterday would be in order.

General Howe took exception to the meeting, and thought that the question of the admission of All Saints Church had the priority over the unfinished election.

The chair declined to change the ruling.

Mr. F. M. Hutchinson moved that the unfinished election be further postponed, and that the question of the admission of All Saints Church be resumed, which was agreed to by a vote of 48 yeas to 11 nays.

The Bishop announced that the admission of All Saints Church was now in order.

Rev. Henry Purdon, of Tittusville, regarded the question as a very grave one, and was in favor of postponing the vote on the admission of the parish until the next meeting of the Convention. This would give time for examination into the matter by by all who wished to do so.

Rev. Joseph Wilson, of East Liberty, was opposed to postponement, and in favor of deciding the question at once. He was educated in the school of which All Saints parish is the exponent, but he thanked God that he had emerged from that school. He boldly asserted that the technicalities, by which the practices in that church were sought to be reconciled to the Book of Common Prayer, were false. It would not do to admit that parish on the plea that they used the Prayer Book with their own interpretation. Under the same plea Roman Catholic parishes might demand admission. The question was one of self-preservation, and should be disposed of promptly.

Judge Barrett, of Clearfield, said he would favor the postponement of the vote. He regretted that the whole matter had not been referred to a special committee, but as the next best thing he would vote for postponement. If that failed he would be compelled to vote directly against the admission of All Saints parish. If the practices alleged to exist in that parish be as represented then his duty as a churchman, and a member of the Prostestant Episcopal denomination, was plain. He should vote to exclude the parish.

Rev. Mr. Karchee, of Rochester, said he loved the Episcopal Church as he did his God. It was the Holy Catholic Church. He recognized the Roman church and the Oriental church as branches of the church, and hoped to see a union of the branches. The Roman church was an erring branch, but they could not expect either the Roman or the Oriental church to come all the way to the Protestant Episcopal Church of America.

The gentleman's remarks were cut short by a member who called for the order of the day.

Mr. Golden moved that the speaker have five minutes' time in which to complete his remarks, but the Convention declined to grant the request.

The Bishop stated that the order of the day was the vote on the question to postpone the vote on the admission of All Saints parish until the next Convention.

The vote was then taken by orders, and resulted as follows:

Yeas—Clergy, 21; lay, 19—40.
Nays—Clergy, 17; lay, 7—24.

The question was therefore determined in the affirmative.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The Bishop announced that the election of officers would be next in order.

General Howe asked leave to withdraw his name from the Finance Committee, and substitute the name of Malcolm Hay, Esq., The request was granted.

The Bishop appointed as Tellers—Revs. Nevins an Slattery as clerical, and Messrs. George R. White and T. B. McKnight as lay tellers.

While the tellers were occupied in counting the ballots, the committee to which was referred the last annual address of the Bishop read their report, which was adopted.

The Committee on the Fund for the Relief of Clergymen also made a report, which was accepted and the committee discharged.

The annual report of the standing committee of the Convention was submitted and adopted.

The Committee on the State of the Church made a report, which was referred back to them, with power to complete it after the adjournment of the Convention—all the parochial reports reports not having been presented.

TRUSTEES OF THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

Rev. Mr. Scarborough, from the Committee appointed to nominate Trustees to the General Theological Seminary at New York, reported as follows: Laity—John H. Shoenberger, Gen. Geo. W. Cass, B. B. Vincent. Clergy—Revs. Joseph D. Wilson, B. H. Loring, Marcus A. Tallman, J. P. Taylor.

The report was accepted, and the nominations approved.

Mr. Joseph King offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That such portion of the fund contributed for the relief of clergymen, and the widows and orphans of clergymen, as the respective contributors may not, before the next Convention, ask to be refunded, shall be invested by the Finance Committee as a nucleus for a fund for the purpose afore said, to be hereafter enlarged, and that it be the duty of the standing Committee to correspond with the contributors with a view to secure their sanction.

A RESIDENCE FOR THE BISHOP.

Rev. Mr. Wilson, of East Liberty, suggested the propriety of securing a residence for the Bishop outside the city. He stated that a suitable site could be obtained between this city and East Liberty, about three miles from City Hall, and convenient to horse and steam railway. He moved the appointment of a committee of three, to take into consideration the propriety of securing a residence for the Bishop. The motion was adopted and Rev. Wilson and Messrs. E. S. Golden and Thomas M. Howe were appointed as said Committee.

The tellers of the election not being ready to report, it was moved to adjourn.

THE VISIT TO DIXMONT.

The Bishop announced that the Convention had accepted an invitation to visit Dixmont in the afternoon, and stop at the House of Refuge on the way down. This would necessitate an adjournment until evening, in order that the business of the Convention might be finished up.

Mr. Hutchinson moved that the Convention adjourn until seven o'clock in the evening, which was agreed to.

The Convention then adjourned, and at half past two o'clock took a train on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway, kindly placed at their service by Gen. Cass, President of the Company. The members were accompanied by quite a number of their lady friends, and the trip was exceedingly pleasant and agreeable throughout.

Evening Session.

The Convention was called to order at half past seven o'clock, by Bishop Kerfoot, who announced that the Convention was open for business.

The Bishop stated that the first thing in order was the reading of the report of the election tellers.

RESOLUTIONS OF THANKS.

Mr. Golden, pending the reading of the report, offered a resolution returning thanks to the Rector, Warden, Vestrymen and Sexton of the Trinity Church, for their courtesies and kindnesses to the Convention.

Also, a resolution of thanks to General George W. Cass for the special train furnished the Convention on the occasion of its visit to Dixmont.

Mr. Howell moved that the thanks of the Convention be extended to the officers of Dixmont Hospital and of the House of Refuge, for the courtesies shown on the occasion of the visit of the Convention to those institutions, and expressive of the sense of the humanity, care and charity of the officers thereof to the inmates.

Other resolutions of thanks were offered, and all were unanimously adopted.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

On motion, Revs. Scarborough, Ten Broeck, Billsby and Parker were appointed a committee to conduct the opening exercises of Conventions held in the future. Adopted.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Page the Rectors of the several parishes were requested at the proper time to give notice to their people of the time and place of holding the conventions, so that a full attendance could be had.

Dr. Page stated that his reason for offering the motion was that the attendance at the meetings had heretofore not been as full as they should be, and he thought it good for the church that all who could make it convenient should attend.

The President made a few remarks in reference to the same matter, fully indorsing the resolution.

The motion was then put before the house and passed.

IMPORTANT RESOLUTION.

Mr. Felix R. Brunot read the following, which he moved be referred to the Committee on Canons:

WHEREAS, The ascertainments and defining of the boundaries of existing Parishes or parochial cures, as well as the establishment of a new church or congregation within the limits of any other Parish, is left to the action of the Diocesian Conventions for the Dioceses respectively (Title III, Canon 5, section 2 in the Digest); and there is no existing canon in the Diocese of Pittsburgh defining Parish boundaries; and whereas the system of defining a parish by geographical boundaries which prevails in the established Church of England is inapplicable to the United States, but is here productive of misunderstandings and unseemly controversies, and no canon can be formed defining a cure of souls by the lines of city, town or ward, which will not exclude many who belong to the Parish or cure so defined, and including many who do not belong thereto. Thus interfering with the right of the Laity to select those who shall minister to them in spiritual things, and with the liberty of the clergy to preach the Gospel where their ministrations may be solicited.

Resolved, That the Committee on Cannons be instructed to prepare a canon declaring that a parish or cure of souls in this Diocese, shall be defined as including only the limits of the church building and grounds, and the houses of the persons who are members of said church.

The President spoke against the motion of Mr. Brunot to refer to the Canon Committee, and some of the members of the Convention followed in the same strain.

Mr. Tschudy moved that the motion be laid on the table, which was adopted.

A motion was made providing for the publication of a portion of the address of the Bishop. Carried.

Mr. Ten Broeck moved that when the Convention adjourn it be to meet in the Trinity Church, Pittsburgh, on June 9th, 1869.

Mr. Golden suggested that it be held in St. Andrew's Church, at Clearfield, Pa.

The original motion was passed.

Mr. Golden moved that the report of the Finance Committee of 1867 be referred to the present Finance Committee for revision and correction. Adopted.

THE MANNER OF HOLDING ELECTIONS.

Hon. Thomas M. Howe offered a resolution changing the manner of holding the elections and the manner of voting, which was adopted.

Rev. Wilson, of East Liberty, arose and made a personal explanation correcting an erroneous impression which had gone abroad, from remarks made by him in the morning, reflecting upon the General Theological Seminary.

THE ELECTION.

The tellers then announced the result of the election held in the morning, when it appeared that another election would have to be held to fill all the committees. Three ballots were taken when the result was announced as follows:

Standing Committee—Clergy, 3—Rev. Thomas Crumpton, Rev. John Scarborough Rev. Joseph Wilson. Laity, 3.—John H. Shoenberger, Esq., Hon. George W. Cass, Hill Burgwin, Esq.

Finance Committee, 5.—Thomas J. Brereton, Josiah King, E. S. Golden, W. H. Byram, Malcolm Hay.

Deputies to General Convention—Clergy 4.—Rev. John Scarborough, Rev. Marison Byllesby, Rev. William White, Rev. John F. Spaulding. Laity 4—John H. Shoenberger, Geo. W. Cass, Hon. Thomas M. Howe, B. B. Vincent.

Supplementary Deputies—Clergy, 4.—Rev. William P. Ten Broeck, Rev. Marcus A. Tolmman, Rev. R. D. Nevins Rev. H. H. Loring. Laity, 4.—Hon. Gaylord Church, Alfred Howell, Esq., Benjamin Grant, Esq., Josiah King.

Treasurer of Episcopal Fund—1.—Malcolm Hay, Esq.

Treasurer of Christmas Fund—1.—Joseph H. Hill.

Treasurer of Convention Fund—1.—Geo. T. Van Doren.

The Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund, Malcolm Hay, Esq., read a portion of his report, the reading of the whole having been dispensed with. The Treasurer estimates the present value of the Episcopal Fund, including the noble gift of $5,000 made last Easter by a member of St. Stephens' Parish, Sewickley, at $45,000.

A resolution was adopted, that four hundred copies of the journal of the Convention be printed.

At half past ten o'clock on the sixth ballot the Standing Committee had not been chosen, one member of the clergy being yet wanting, on account of a tie vote through three ballots, between Revs. Benj. F. Brown and Joseph D. Wilson. One of the gentlemen had previously asked to withdraw his name, but permission was refused. After the sixth ballot a motion was put, by request, to allow both names to be withdrawn, which was also refused.

Mr. Golden then asked leave to make another motion, which was also voted down.

Mr. Shoenberger then moved to adjourn until this morning, which was not agreed to.

A seventh ballot was then proceeded with which resulted in the election of Rev. Wilson.

Rev. R. S. Smith was unanimously elected Register of the Diocese.

After a few feeling remarks from the President, and religious exercises, the convention adjourned.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

The Libel Against the Penichuck Oil Refinery—Monetion Awarded—Motion for Another Trial in the Riphy Counterfeiting Case Granted—The County Courts—Trial Lists, Etc.

United States Court—Judge McCandless.

In the case of the United States vs. Penichuck Oil Refinery, eighty-nine barrels of refined oil not claimed by Walter J Benson, libel filed June 4th, the court issued the following order: "The above incidep, it is on motion of the United States Attorney ordered that process of attachment and monition be awarded, and made retuturnable the 6th day of July at the City of Erie. Per Curiam."

NEW TRIAL GRANTED.

The argument for a motion for a new trial in the case of Benj. Riphy was heard. W. D. Moore appeared for Riphy, and District Attorney in opposition. The Court granted the motion.

Criminal Court Judge Mellon.

The jury in the case of John King, tried on Wednesday for the larceny of an overcoat, found a verdict of "Not guilty."

The case of Frances Clemenson, a widow woman, indicted for keeping a bawdy house at Saw Mill Run, reported yesterday as on trial, was resumed on the opening of Court. A number of witnesses were called for the defense, and testified that the defendant was an industrious, hard working woman, and had a good reputation in the neighborhood. The case was submitted to the jury without argument, and they found a verdict of not guilty, the prosecutors to pay the costs.

TRIAL OF A CONSTABLE.

Julius Dougherty, constable, was placed on trial charged with assaulting a young lady named Jennie E. Habberfield. It was alleged an information had been made against the prosecutrix and Dougherty went to arrest her and found her in the office of Alderman McMasters, where he rudely demanded her name and assaulted her in a violent manner.

The prosecutrix, who resides in Allegheny, was called and testified that on the 14th of May the defendant came into the office where she was and asked her name; she did not give it, not knowing that the defendant was a police officer. He took her by the arm, and dragged her out of the office saying she would not fool him any longer. She said she wanted to see Mr. McCarthy about the matter. No warrant was shown her.

J. C. Kirkpatrick said he was present and the officer exhibited no warrant, and acted rudely.

John C. McCarthy, Esq., was called for the defense, and testified that he had been attending to a case at the Mayor's office, and came up to Alderman McMasters'; told her we would go to Alderman McMasters' office and enter bail; met Dougherty and asked him if he had a warrant; he said he did not know whether he had or not; told him the one he had was not her name; if he undertook to arrest her on that he would sue him for assault and battery.

Alderman Lynch was called and produced the warrant; he testified that the warrant was wrong first and Dougherty had it changed after he saw McCarthy.

The jury found a verdict of guilty. Sentence deferred.

G. Lee alias Bill Loomis was placed on trial for the larceny of a coat from David Aiken. The coat was taken from his office, and soon after missed; he went to the pawn broker's shop and found it; the pawn broker sent out and had the colored man brought in. He was then taken to the Mayor's office. The jury found a verdict of guilty and recommended the prisoner to the mercy of the Court. Sentence deferred.

James L. King was next tried on a indictment for assault and battery. It was alleged by the prosecuting witness, Jane Hershal, that some five or six weeks ago King, who was her son-in-law, came to her house and she called him a drunken loafer, and he struck her on the cain. The jury found a verdict of guilty.

Mrs. King, wife of the defendant in the above case, was heard on a charge of surety of the peace, preferred against her husband. She put in more testimony in the course of fifteen minutes than is usually given by ordinary witnesses, narrating the history of their domestic difficulties in detail. The husband was required to give one hundred dollars security to keep the peace.

King was called up for sentence on the verdict in the assault and battery case, and said that whisky was the cause of all his troubles, domestic and otherwise. He was ready to take an oath to "never touch another drop," and was let off by paying the costs of prosecution, a fine of $10, and undergoing an imprisonment of five days in the county jail.

Wm. Downey was arraigned on an indictment for assault and battery on a little son of Nicholas Bishop, Pitt township. The offense was alleged to have been committed in April last. Jury out.

Adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

Pleasure Drives—Where to Get a Team

The season is now present when a drive to the rural retreats surrounding the city is most enjoyable, and although the driving road has only progressed to a survey, the number of elegant "turnouts" to be seen on the route to East Liberty these evenings would indicate that that improvement would be a paying investment. But it is not of driving roads we desire to speak, but simply to inform the reader who occasionally loves to handle the ribbons over a fleet, sure-footed nag where he may get a superb "turn-out" and no mistake, and that is at McClurg Brothers' stables, 88 Smithfield street, near Fifth. The senior member of the firm is an adept in his business, and therefore it is that in all their extensive stock of horses they have not one but would tickle the fancy of the most accomplished Jehu in the city. Horses that can make their mile in harness in three minutes and upwards are to be found in their stables, while stylish vehicles of all classes and sizes are kept on hand to fit out an "establishment" that the most fastidious would be delighted to drive. In a word, everything appertaining to their business is of first-class order, and the Messrs. McClurg are prompt, affable, and deserving of the large and increasing patronage which they now enjoy. Parties in want of horses or carriages will find these stables the most centrally located and convenient in the city.

BEAVER STREET M. E. CHURCH.—The congregation of the Beaver Street M. E. Church, Allegheny, Rev. J. W. Baker, are about making extensive improvements on their church building, and the work will be commenced in a few weeks. The interior of the main auditorium will be repainted, the walls and ceilings frescoed, new carpets laid down, and other improvements made, thus making quite an agreeable improvement in its appearance. A festival will be held in the church during the coming week, the proceeds of which are to be appropriated to the improvement fund.

Police Intelligence.

[Before Mayor Blackmore.]

A SALOON FIGHT.

Informations for felonious and aggravated assault and battery were preferred before Mayor Blackmore yesterday against two men named John Peredine and Robert Elsler, by Adam Diehl and August Senger. The former preferred the charge of aggravated assault and battery, and the latter the felonious assault. The offenses were committed on the 7th of the month, during a fight which occurred between the parties in a saloon at Lawrenceville. One of them was struck with a beer glass, and his upper lip almost entirely cut off. He was also otherwise abused. The second prosecutor was cut on the cheek with a knife and likewise abused in other ways. Informations were also made before a Justice of the Peace in Lawrenceville, but these were subsequently withdrawn and the charges preferred before the Mayor as above stated. Warrants for the arrest of the accused were issued.

ALLEGED LARCENY.

About sixty dollars were stolen from the money drawer of James Sherran, on Diamond alley, and Con Donnelly, who had been hanging around the place, was suspected of having stolen the money. Information was made against him, and an officer was sent to Connellsville with a warrant to arrest him.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

James Carter, the negro arrested at the Union Depot by officer McCready, charged with the larceny of thirty-two yards of muslin from James H. Argyle, had a hearing and was fully committed for trial.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF AND ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Bridget Early charged her son-in-law, John Hanlor, with malicious mischief and assault and battery. Some weeks ago the defendant's wife left him, in consequence, as is alleged, of ill-treatment, and went to her mother's, in the Eighth ward. John went there to see her, but she refused to see him, whereupon it is alleged he kicked the door down and entered the house. After breaking down the door it is alleged he beat his wife. He was arrested and committed to answer both charges.

[Before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham.]

ALLEGED LARCENY BY BAILEE.

Samuel Lodge made information before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham yesterday, charging William Calligan with larceny by bailee. Previous to the committal of the offense, the parties were employed at the American Iron Works of Jones & Laughlin, in Brownstown, where both resided. When employed, they worked together in the manner known to mill men as "level handed." In other words, they worked together, and the money made by the two would be drawn and equally divided. On June 6, the day on which the offense was committed, Calligan, it appears from the allegations made by Lodge, drew their money but failed to come to time and give Lodge his half, amounting to seventy dollars. The latter instituted search for Calligan, and succeeded in finding him at Butler, Pa. Accordingly he made the information as stated, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

The Daily Commercial

FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1868.

THE COMMERCIAL is the largest daily paper in the State, and gives daily one fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

As proof of the estimate placed on the market reports of the COMMERCIAL, we will state that they are regularly copied by the New York Economist, Shipping List, Iron Age, and other papers of this character in that and other cities, and that leading English commercial papers and circulars regularly reprint them with credit. There is within five hundred miles, hardly an Iron Factory, Oil Refinery, or leading manufactory of any kind that is not a subscriber to the COMMERCIAL, principally, because its reports are the only full and reliable given of the Pittsburgh markets.

THE action of the Republican Conventions of Fayette and Indiana counties in expressing their unanimous preference for Hon. JOHN COVODE as candidate for Congress for the Twenty-First District, virtually secures him the nomination in that district, as Westmoreland county will undoubtedly concur in this action.

AT the Republican primary meetings in Indiana county, on Saturday last, General HARRY WHITE received over one thousand majority for State Senator, and, as he has received the nomination in Jefferson county, this secures his nomination in the district. General WHITE has been a faithful representative of his constituents for three years past in the State Senate, and we believe no man in that body has a fairer record for integrity and attention to the interests of the State. His nomination is equivalent to an election.

NEWS again of trouble with Indian tribes and of necessity to enforce the power of the United States. Regarding it as a settled matter that the red men must give way before a higher civilization than theirs, we see no necessity to hasten the natural order of events by "want of faith;" and though we wish to see the power of the States maintained, we think a strict inquiry should be made how far agents carry out the instructions they receive, and whether they do not withhold supplies that properly administered would tend to keep peace more surely than brutal power.

IN the House of Representatives on Wednesday, on motion of General MOORHEAD, a resolution was adopted calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information concerning the condition of the Post Office and Custom House building in Pittsburgh. We presume this is not the full scope of the resolution. It is well known that our Postoffice is cramped for room, and that neither the public nor the Post Office force are properly accommodated. Out of this has arisen some talk about removing the Post Office and the erection of a new building for its accommodation. We question whether there can be found a better location than the present one, and if properly overhauled, we presume the present building could be made to answer every requirement of the Postoffice. If there is to be any removal, we hope it will be the Custom House, and the room now occupied for that purpose surrendered for the use of the Postoffice. This with proper alterations would meet all the wants of the public, be the least expensive, and in our judgment, the best arrangement that could be made. The present building is not large enough for both the Post Office and Custom House, is larger than would be needed for the Custom House alone, and could be made to accommodate well the Post Office. The removal of the Custom House would be far more practicable than the Post Office, and attended with a comparatively small expense. We hope that the resolution in question contemplates something of this kind.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

Reports of the execution of BONNETT admit a kind of shame on the part of the British Government and officials as to public strangulation. We do not propose to discuss the justice of the execution from the Fenian or Anti Fenian point of view. When a man or a nation grows ashamed of a practice, if continued at all it is where few can see—a kind of confidential vice in which the less publicity the better. BONNETT had an opportunity to prove the [illegible] he set up. A commission was appointed to investigate the decision of the jury, and the law was allowed to take its usual course, for that, by custom, ornamented the last half hour of a wretched being's existence with the gewgaws of official hanging and formulae most tantalizingly hideous. They were generally observed after the following fashion. The Sheriff made a demand on the jailor for the body, and, of course, the jailor obeyed. The culprit was introduced to JACK KETCH, who, in the press room, or pinioning room, prepared the offender for the last polite attentions of the law, by strapping his arms in such a manner behind his body that, though from the elbows downward there was liberty, the pinioned could not use his arms to reach his neck. All the while this attention was going on, the officials were round in fancy attitudes, seeking to impress the offender with their kindness and waiting for last words. The minister in attendance also gets consolation; and a culprit doomed to death was, the last half hour of his life, the best cared for man in the world. When the signal was given for starting, the bell tolled out its solemn sound, the minister read the service for the dead, officials formed in procession, leading the way, JACK KETCH having the post of honor near the prisoner. Arrived at the gallows stairway, the officials filed on each side, the culprit mounted the steps, JACK KETCH fixed the noose, pulled the cap nearly on the doomed man's eyes, set him squarely on the drop, pressed, pulled a bolt, and the condemned [illegible]

"[illegible]"

Twas a terrible sight, [illegible] for us to deter crowds from going to see. All the low population of the vicinity would be there. Women, with little children, would hold them up to see. Government said that example was better than precept, and made an execution as public as possible. The old fashioned gallows, on which a man would live a quarter of an hour, had given place to the "drop," which was looked upon as the acme of wisdom. In time the authorities shamed at the description of the contortions that followed "the drop." A few miserable failures made old fogyism sullen, and a patched up compromise, in hanging the gallows with black cloth, so that JACK KETCH alone could see what was going on below, sufficed virtuous England for a time. Still hanging day remained a prime holiday, finished up with saturnalia by the crowd gathering food for fresh murders, while peddlers of the horrible cried the last dying speech and confession of the prisoner, only a cent. Sometimes the serious farce was preluded with these cries. Fellows wishing to drive a brisk trade, shouted the last dying speech and confession of the poor wretch as he stood in their sight pale and trembling, taking his last sad sight of all he could see on earth, and with a piteous gaze, before the cap was drawn, casting an appealing look at earth's great dome, hoping to find mercy there.

That is a fair sample of an old fashioned, blood-thirsty, national, senseless way of sending a fellow creature to the company of "apostles, prophets and the spirits of just men made perfect." But in hanging BONNETT, the authorities of Newgate seemed ashamed of their business. They used strategy in keeping the reporters out of the way, until the condemned man was on the scaffold. They skulked themselves into a private room. They knew what was going on, but did not wish to mix with it. That rather did BONNETT good than otherwise, for if there be anything to gall the last moments of life it must be the fussy attentions of prison officials. The reports say that there will be no more capital punishment in England; that BONNETT's execution will be the last of them. We wish we could believe it. A nation that has traveled so slowly and clung with such tenacity to old customs will not, we think, discontinue capital punishments. The miracle, according to our view, is in the neglect of a word. There may be no more public executions in England; and it will be a great stride for that nation to take to come to private executions.

As a nation, we have long set England the copy of private executions and the colonies of that country have followed our example. If we could believe that England was about to outstrip the most enlightened of our States in the abolition of the barbarous practice, we should rejoice. But taking the view that there will be no more public executions in England, it behooves us, as the most advanced nation on earth, to set the example of the abolition of death punishment altogether. And we should do this at once, from the highest possible moral point. The end of punishment is to protect the community and promote the highest welfare of offenders. By this wise regulation it appears that the [illegible] school governs the [illegible]. His punishments are to bring us back to duty, and if we learn not this in time to soften or mitigate, we suffer far worse consequences; for there is no escape from those great laws that govern us all.

We seek not to soften the horror felt against those who take human life, which is correct; and pity for the offender is the least binding feature of the argument. Bring him by proper method to reformation; give him time to "work out his salvation with fear and trembling," and not consign him to blessedness or otherwise very short time after the commission of his offense.

Taking the view that England is ashamed of the scandal of public hangings, we, as a Christian nation, should revise our laws on capital punishment, and extending the broad bosom of the nation's charity to offenders, teach them, by our mercy and suitable punishment, that we are not the embodiment of cruelty, but punish with a view to bring them back to duty and therefore to God.

THE DEMOCRATIC SHUFFLE.

The World upsets itself and the speculations based on its previous utterances in favor of CHASE, by declaring that "the chances are ten to one that the Democrats will nominate some statesman who has acted steadily with the party." Of course this means that neither CHASE nor HANCOCK will be the candidate; for CHASE has not "acted steadily with the party," and HANCOCK is no "statesman." The World goes even further in regard to CHASE, and gives him the following inhospitable invitation:

> [illegible]

Here, then, we have the proclamation, that the Bourbons are against CHASE and we may safely assume that it has been made thus openly and positively because of the headway the movement has apparently acquired, and it is clear, furthermore, that the report that Mr. SEYMOUR is for CHASE is untrue. The World clinches the nail against CHASE—who will run only on the "impartial suffrage" platform—by declaring that "a decent self respect requires that our national platform shall say nothing on the subject."

The difficulties in the way of Democratic success, as the World shows them up, are little less than painful. Witness the following:

> [illegible]

The confession of the Democratic organ amounts to this: The negroes are going to vote; without a good share of them, the Democrats cannot carry their candidate; PENDLETON stands a small chance of getting them, and would need them more than any one else, "as being weaker in some of the Eastern States;" therefore the party must resort to "discreet management," but what that would be the World is puzzled to say.

The negro vote, then, is the game of the party, who so recently was, for "negro domination," "white man's government," "down with the nigger," and the like. To this end, candidates, principles, everything must come forth and retire.

THE POWER OF ADVERSITY.

Experience is a dear teacher, but fools will learn by no other way. Austria seems fully to realize her position through loss of German territory, her expulsion from Italy and the shadows of Sadowa. The Emperor of Austria has waked up to the disagreeable fact that if he permitted Rome longer to exercise spiritual tyranny in his dominion, he must be prepared for further disaster. In trouble wise men look to their course. When Austria exercised her greatest power, she had the Hungarians to keep in awe, part of Italy to provide for, and a heterogeneous mass of subjects to govern that might well bring discontent. She had to contend not only against the dissatisfaction of her own subjects, but to counteract the ambition of Prussia, her neighbor, ever anxious to take advantage of the Empire. Beaten, disgraced, but not conquered, as to her existence as an Empire, though shorn of territory, there was still enough vitality to withstand the shocks of that disease eating out her vitals. Austria will cast away the Concordat. She tells the Pope that to retain it longer would be to seriously disturb the internal affairs of the Empire. She has also determined to fund her indebtedness in bonds bearing five per cent. interest. Her paper currency has long been the laughing stock of Europe. Her credit was exhausted, and she had to learn wisdom from other nations or die. Now Hungary has received a new constitution, religious reforms are spoken of, and toleration in spiritual matters assumes form and power. We may wish Austria prosperity in her new determination.

"ANDY JOHNSON OF TENNESSEE."

Glory be to ANDY! He has a few friends left in Nashville, who forget not the stumping ability of the political tailor. The Democratic Convention in that city surround the mention of ANDY with questionable compliment, in that they say "in the event his name was mentioned it was due that the delegation should cast a vote for him." Respectful Democrats of Nashville only make the mention of ANDY's name an event? Go down ANDY to Nashville and read them a lecture on questionable compliments. Say to them that you are an event in yourself; an event round which all other events should have revolved, but they didn't and there is the end.

SENATOR FESSENDEN is credited with saying, that "if Chief Justice Chase gets the nomination of the Democrats, he will be beaten in the coming election as badly as McClellan was."

WE read in an article on the fashions, that "colored boots are no longer worn by ladies. Their use is discontinued as too theatrical." Considering the length that ladies wear their dresses, and the scavenging they perform on the streets with their tails, we hardly see how they can follow the fashion and not have their boots colored.

IN a new English novel the disfavored lover waylays Cora in the dark, and kisses her with such force that he leaves on her shoulder a mark "blue and red, the blood starting under the skin, and the indication of two teeth, or what resemble their impression." That kiss is open to the objection of looking like an old-fashioned bite. Is that the kind of kiss that Chase has given to the Republican party?

THE Boston Post's Washington correspondent says concerning Cabinet names, that there have been great efforts made to secure a change in both the Treasury and State Departments, but with no likelihood whatever of success, although one of Mr. McCulloch's bitterest enemies assured the President that all the denunciation which had been heaped upon his Secretary would be turned upon him if he did not make the desired change. The President very quietly replied, "I hope I shall survive the attack."

A Wife or Money for Mexico.

Senor Romero is on his way to this country it seems to find some fair maid to share his fortunes, others, that he is on a borrowing mission. If the Senor only wants a wife, he will not find much difficulty in getting a Mrs. Romero; but if he is coming a borrowing we fear he will go back a sorrowing, for in the present delightful state of that country we don't think any capitalists or the Government would care to invest a cent. In a country where it is dangerous to have either goods or money the security is so excessively doubtful that Senor Romero, if on a borrowing excursion, will have to return without having accomplished his object. If it is only a wife he wants he can have that blessing, for there are plenty of ladies romantic enough in their natures to brave the fortunes of the Mexican. As our civilization advances toward Mexico, we may, by example, teach the natives of that delightful country, where Providence has done so much for man, and man so much to defeat the intentions of Providence, the old proverb that "God helps those who help themselves," and, when they show a disposition for order, capitalists may give them a new financial start.

Parisian Rumors.

The sacred book gives the Athenians a character that will live forever. They delighted to tell or hear some new thing. Alcibiades, knowing the love of the Athenians for gossip, as town was rather dull, cut off his dog's tail to find the Athenians something to talk about. Alcibiades knew, firstly, that the Athenians would notice his dog without a tail; then that they would enquire all about it, invent a thousand different versions about the dog and the tail, by all of which Alcibiades would be talked about. That was what he wanted. Now Paris is very like Alcibiades, it is nothing if not talked about. Good or bad, Paris must have a rumor every day; and if all the rumors that come from that city in a week were one rumor, as John Leatherlegging said respecting the shower, what a large rumor that would be.

And all the war rumors that have arisen in Paris, and which Le Nord has fattened with that French trickiness for which it is famous, arise from the report that Greece has received the Cretan Deputies and seriously listened to them. From this the assumption was immediately started that Turkey would declare war against Greece; that Russia would declare for Crete, that France and England would declare for Turkey, and there would be the devil to pay all round. This great imbroglio of nations is set to take place. The Cretan Deputies have not been received by Greece, but she has positively refused to accept them; therefore the splendid story, with accompaniments, that went up like a rocket falls as dull as a stick.

A Last View of the Abyssinian War.

"If all the horrors recited to us by the late captives were ever enacted within the rocky precincts of Insulabile Magdala, then the English deserve the thanks of the world for the summary and complete manner in which they have fulfilled their mission of justice and vengeance against the tyrant Theodore." Thus writes the correspondent of the New York Herald, and as he has no peculiar favor to show to our cousins on the other side of the water, we suppose the summing up must be accepted. It may be so, but we are amongst those who cannot see the necessity for the destruction of Magdala, which comprised the burning of three thousand houses, "a perfect sea of fire," and a general clearing out of the inhabitants.

Queen [illegible], whose acquaintance is made through columns of correspondence from specials, appears to be a nice kind of a lady, and she forgot her sorrow in the nice dishes that the cooks of Napier prepared. A different kind of feeding to which the lady had been accustomed, and after she had fed she consented to sit for her photograph, which by the way was a pleasant way of finishing up the ugly business.

Napier's address to the troops, or rather the printed speech, is full of praise to the soldiers. We take a few passages, in the form of extracts.

> [illegible]

Louis Blanc, the Frenchman, defends Napier from the charge of cruelty to his soldiers, and dwells on the personal acquaintance of the victorious General. The young Prince goes to England to be educated, and Egypt keeps a sharp lookout for new territory.

Recruits for Papal Service.

There are already a number of volunteers from the United States and Canada in the military service of the Pope, and, as it is believed that enthusiasm will exist amongst the sympathizers with the Pope to further aid in his protection, care is exercised in setting forth the terms on which the military assistance will be received, and the reception of the order will give opportunity for the faithful to display their affection.

On the 21st of May Cardinal Barnabo forwarded to the Catholic Bishops in this country an answer to their offer to supply troops to defend the Pope. The soldiers have to be sent to Rome for three years, maintained there and brought back to America entirely at the expense of the Bishops. The class of men who are to be admitted to the military honor are to be those fitted by their morals and piety to defend the Holy See. The battalion of American volunteers is to be composed of not more than one thousand men, to be enrolled in the Northern and Southern States. The men are all to be Catholics, aged from eighteen to thirty years; they are to bear the banner of the Holy See, and bring with them the funds for their maintenance. General Lewis is named Lieutenant Colonel of the corps, and Mr. [illegible] Major.

Up to the time this information was posted in Rome, May 21, not more than 150,000 francs had been subscribed; but there is little doubt of the money being raised sufficient to defray the expense of the battalion, if the American Bishops set about it. The movement has scarcely assumed that shape for the nations interested to make their sentiments known on what they will term foreign enlistment.

The Pope has already a great number of foreigners in what is termed his crack corps. They number: French, 1,301; Belgians, 686; Dutchmen, 1,910; Romans and Pontifical subjects, 157; Walloons, 12; Neapolitans, 14; Tuscans, 12; Swiss, 79; Austrians, 2; Prussians, 87; Germans, 23; Spaniards, 23; Portuguese, 6; English, 50; Irish, 101; Scotch, 10; [illegible], 1; Poles, 12; South Sea Islander, 1; Maltese, 2; Americans, 14; Indian, 1; African, 1; Peruvian, 1; Mexican, 1; Circassian, 1; Canadians, 135—in all, 4,596. The Romans comprise the smallest of the several battalions of Zouaves, which explains the fact of there being so many of them in what is essentially a foreign corps.

PITTSBURGH MANUFACTURES.

THE KEYSTONE BRIDGE COMPANY.

Nine times out of ten the traveller whose wonder and admiration is excited by the ingenuity displayed in the construction of iron, or combinations of wood and iron bridges, encountered in the various railways traversing the country, regards the elegant, graceful and durable structures with an imbecile curiosity. Especially those who are unacquainted with the mechanical arts are unable to conceive how such immense pieces of cast and wrought iron can be constructed, calculated to fit so exactly, and fastened together. In short, a solid wrought iron bridge is a marvel which few people can either comprehend or explain, for the story is not completed with the explanation of the supports, beams, girders and suspension rods—the strength of the material used; the strain supported by it under favorable or unfavorable conditions; the method of arriving at a positive knowledge of the same, all these must be taken into consideration before one can obtain any adequate idea of the various principles illustrated in an iron bridge composed of a series of spans, varying from two hundred to three hundred feet in the clear. This, we submit, is a mechanical marvel which possesses considerable interest for that very large and respectable portion of the community known as the Society for the Prevention of Death from Criminal Negligence, and the careful study of which, we venture to assert, will richly reward the most sensitive humanitarian. Something of interest it possesses, too, for the "dear travelling public," whom everybody seems so anxious to accommodate, and whose welfare is frequently so well provided for that nothing more remains to be done for them here save to consign their charred remains, gathered from a tangled mass of human limbs, trunks, heads and helpless broken machinery, to their last resting place. Who shall say how many lives have been ended abruptly with the crumbling of a defective or rotten beam, "accepted in the contract," and located just where its weakness would prove most destructive to human life. (Certainly it would surpass the arithmetic of a Coroner to compute the number.)

The stranger who visits Pittsburgh in quest of mechanical marvels, be he intensely humane or fond of curiosities, would do well to pay a visit to the works of the Keystone Bridge Company, located in the Ninth ward, on the banks of the Allegheny. Certainly no one who desires to be conversant with the great iron establishments of the city can afford to overlook a concern which employs four hundred men, and works up more than five thousand tons of iron per annum—which has constructed roadways and railways over hundreds of streams, east and west, and finds its account in lessening the dangers of travel, and all in the short space of five years. Here the visitor will find, piled up in rare order, posts, bases, upper chords, connecting chords, eye bars and diagonals in masses which weigh ten, twenty and thirty tons, making an aggregate of hundreds of tons, all fashioned in a Titan like scale; bars measuring from thirty to fifty feet in length; tubular posts from twenty to thirty feet; bolts of every conceivable length, and varying from one to five inches in diameter. The curiosity of the visitor is naturally aroused; he is anxious to see the mechanical appliances which enables the workmen to handle these ponderous pieces of iron. Entering

THE BLACKSMITH'S DEPARTMENT

He will observe workmen engaged in the business of making the eyes for bolts of every length, and nuts to fit the same. Extending from one end of the room to the other are three rows of blacksmith fires, the first and second occupying nearly half of the room, and employed upon large or heavy work, the second devoted to light and small work. Directly in front of and above the first mentioned are a number of cranes with hooks attached to them. Upon these hooks the blacksmith hangs the longest and heaviest bolts, places the end to be shaped or up set in the fire, turns on the blast, and seats himself until the iron is heated. To upset a piece of iron in other words is to increase the thickness of it. For instance, a round or square bolt of iron an inch thick, with a heavy, tapering head is required. Instead of taking a piece of inch and a half iron and hammering the bulk of it out into the required thickness, the workman takes a piece of inch iron, heats it, and thickens the end of it by hammering, accomplishing the object aimed at in less time. In this manner the screw end of all the bolts made by the Keystone Bridge Company are upset, either by hand or by an ingenious mechanical device invented for the purpose, and which performs, in the most thorough manner, the work of twelve men. This machine, which is very simple in its construction, is placed upon a framework embedded in the ground beside the heating furnace in which the bolts are heated. The heated end of the bolt is inserted in an opening in a heavy iron collar, composed of two segments, and constructed in such a manner as to admit a die of the size required, and subjected to the blow of a steam helve hammer, which, moving in a horizontal direction, describes the arc of a circle with every blow.

The object in upsetting the ends of the bolts will be understood from the following: The stress or strain upon a bolt should be equal; a rod of iron an inch in diameter, for instance, will bear a certain weight; by cutting a thread in the end of the rod it must necessarily be weakened, and at the very point where it is most liable to break, owing to the steady strain upon it. Say the thread cut is an eighth of an inch—but three-fourths of an inch is left; hence the extra quarter inch in the body of the bolt may be termed superfluous. If, however, the end of the bolt at the bottom of the thread is exactly as thick as the body of the bolt, the latter may be said to be of uniform strength, hence the object in upsetting the ends of the bolts in the manner described is to secure a piece of iron which is equally strong in all its parts. The bolt end is thickened just enough to admit of a thread being cut in it without interfering with the main diameter or bulk.

For the same reason the thin chord links are upset. At the first glance one would suppose that an eyebolt composed of an inch rod or bar welded to a two inch rod would be uniform in strength. A moment's reflection, however, will expose the error. One would scarcely trust his life to two strands of a cable composed of four after it had been demonstrated that the whole strength of the cable was required to insure safety. Precisely upon the same principle, in making chord links, or anything in the shape of a bar, bolt, or connecting rod requiring an eyehole, the iron around the latter is made of a uniform thickness with the body of the piece. A chord link for instance, after it has been upset looks precisely as though the blacksmith had taken the end of the bar and bent it around until it lapped with the thin edges facing each other.

THE NUTS AND RIVETS.

All the nuts used by this establishment below a certain size are manufactured by Wood, Mathews & Co., and are hot pressed. The largest nuts varying from five to seven inches in diameter, and weighing from six to eight pounds are made by the Company in moulds constructed for the express purpose with the aid of a steam hammer. A piece of iron of the size required is cut into lengths heated and upset, or fashioned into the shape of a rude nut. A number of these in turn are placed in a heating furnace, and when ready for the hammer dropped into a heavy iron mould of a cylindrical form, the upper portion of which is composed of two segments. Attached to this mould is two long iron handles, or arms to enable the workmen to handle it. After the hot nut is dropped into the mould, a steel plug is inserted in the nut, a cap or cover placed over the mould and the hammer set in motion, when a very few blows suffice to render what was formerly but the outline of a nut into a well proportioned, hexagon or octagon shaped nut, ready for the thread cutter.

The establishment manufacture all of the rivets consumed by them. A single machine turns out rivets varying from one to five inches in length, and one fourth of an inch to an inch in diameter at the rate of three thousand per day. Recently the proprietors found it necessary to set up a second rivet machine. These rivets are employed in the construction of tubular iron posts, and in fastening various portions of the work together.

THE BOLT CUTTING DEPARTMENT

Numbers seven bolt cutters, capable of cutting bolts from half an inch in diameter up to four and a half! A four and a half inch bolt is a formidable piece of iron. Fancy a shaft as thick as a man's arm, cut with the rapidity of a piece of iron scarcely a thirty-second part of its bulk. Yet the largest of these machines may be said to be perfect in its action. By an ingenious mechanical arrangement the bitts are suddenly withdrawn, and the immense bolt removed without incurring the delay usually occasioned in withdrawing the cut bolt from the bitt. This machine cuts the thread on a bolt, and also taps the nut, a combination which will commend itself to all mechanics.

Over the bolt cutting department we found the pattern shop. The concern gives steady employment to six pattern makers. The length of this building is one hundred and fifty feet by sixty-two in width.

THE MACHINE SHOP

Occupies the whole of the first floor of a separate building, fifty feet wide by one hundred and fifty deep and two stories high. The second story is filled with patterns. Immediately at the head of the stairs we found the draughtsman at work in a large apartment. After a tubular post is riveted together it is removed to the machine shop and placed in front of a rotary planer, which planes the front of the casting forming the bottom of the post in an incredible short space of time. The largest rotary planer is four feet in diameter and numbers twenty-four bitts; the smallest numbers twenty bitts. Opposite the rotary planers are two punching machines, the largest of which punches a hole two and a half inches in diameter through a piece of cold iron two inches thick! An immense slotting machine on the same side of the building with the planers cuts cold iron in a similar unconscious manner. Still, the machines are not as bulky as the material they work upon, which, when completed, is placed upon a railway track and transferred to the main railway immediately in front of the works, to be conveyed to its destination, or removed to one side until called for.

THE CHIPPING SHOP

Is thirty feet wide by two hundred feet deep. Here all the cast iron employed in the construction of bases for posts or other purposes is brought to be trimmed, squared and rendered smooth. A certain amount of work must be accomplished by hand. Here a small lump, there a finned edge has to be removed before the casting will fit. A man with a hammer and a good chisel will remove these unsightly excrescences in half the time it would require to place the casting upon a planer. It is heavy, cumbersome work; but that is a peculiarity pertaining to bridge building. [The cast iron employed in the construction of the bridges built by the Keystone Company is used solely for the purpose of resisting strains caused by compression.]

THE DISTRIBUTION OF THE WORK.

We remember when the officers who superintend the manufacture and erection of the structures made in this establishment first began the business in Pittsburgh in 1863. Prior to that date they were engaged both as employees and contractors in erecting bridges of wood and iron on the Pennsylvania Railroad and its connections. Subsequently (in 1865) the Keystone Bridge Company (organized under the general mining and manufacturing law) purchased of Messrs. Piper & Shiffler the entire works, with the right for the United States to manufacture and erect the celebrated Iron Railway Bridges under "Linville & Piper" patents; also, "Piper's Patent" wooden bridges and Roof Frames.

The success of the first mentioned has been unprecedented; for many years they have borne, without visible defect or deterioration, the immense traffic on the Pennsylvania Central, Philadelphia Central, Philadelphia and Erie, Northern Central, Junction Railroad and others.

"The invariable success of these Bridges and their perfect adaptation to the exigencies of heavy railway traffic," to quote from a little pamphlet before us, "may be attributable mainly to the following important considerations: By novel and original methods of calculation, tested by the most rigid analyses, and illustrated by models, the maximum strains on each portion of the system, for every condition of the permanent and variable load, are carefully determined for each structure; each part of the structure is then carefully and accurately proportioned to sustain the maximum strains to which it may be subjected under the most unfavorable condition of the maximum variable load, or traffic; due allowances are made for the effects of impact, vibration, &c." Generally, the bridges made by the Keystone Bridge Company sustain, in addition to the weight of the structure a uniformly distributed load of one and a half tons per lineal foot, per track. Adhering rigidly to correct scientific principles and liberality in proportions, with a careful selection of materials, and accuracy in workmanship, we need not wonder that no single instance of failure either in materials* or workmanship, on the part of the company, has yet been reported.

*The longest iron (truss) span in the country was constructed in this establishment. Following we present a few figures which will serve to convey some idea of the magnitude of the structures built by the Company. The channel span of the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad bridge at the latter place (composed of cast and wrought iron) is three hundred and twenty feet in the clear. [illegible]

The bridge over the Mississippi at Dubuque also numbering seven spans, [illegible]

Gen. Grant's Reluctance to Accept Civil Office During the War.

Col. Isaac N. Morris, of Quincy, Ill., in former years a prominent member of the Democratic party in Illinois, made a political speech in Quincy on the 29th ult., in which he declared himself unequivocally in favor of the election of Gen. Grant to the Presidency. In the course of his speech he read the following letter from Gen. Grant, written in 1864. Col. Morris had written to him to know if, under any circumstances, he would allow the use of his name as a candidate. To this communication Gen. Grant replied as follows:

NASHVILLE, TENN., Jan. 20, 1864.

Hon. I. N. Morris:

DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 29th of December I did not receive until two days ago. I receive many such, but do not answer. Yours, however, is written in such a kindly spirit, and as you ask for an answer, confidentially, I will not withhold it. Allow me to say, however, that I am not a politician, never was, and hope never to be, and could not write a political letter. My only desire is to serve the country in her present trials. To do this efficiently it is necessary to have the confidence of the army and the people. I know no way to better secure this end than by a faithful performance of my duties. So long as I hold my present position I do not believe that I have the right to criticise the policy or orders of those above me, or to give utterance to views of my own, except to the authorities at Washington, through the General-in-Chief of the army. In this respect I know I have proven myself a "good soldier."

In your letter you say that I have it in my power to be the next President. This is the last thing in the world I desire. I would regard such a consummation as being highly unfortunate for myself, if not for the country. Through Providence I have attained to more than I ever hoped, and with the position I now hold in the regular army, if allowed to retain it, will be more than satisfied. I certainly shall never shape a sentiment, or the expression of a thought with a view of being a candidate for office. I scarcely know the inducement that could be held out to me to accept office, and unhesitatingly say that I infinitely prefer my present position to that of any civil office within the gift of the people.

This is a private letter to you, not intended for others to see or read, because I want to avoid being heard from by the public except through acts in the performance of my legitimate duties.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
U. S. GRANT.

Gen. Moorhead and his Successor.

(From the Philadelphia Press.)

The nomination of General James S. Negley as the Republican candidate for Congress in the Twenty-second District, composed of the city of Pittsburgh and part of the county of Allegheny, is warmly applauded by the Republican party throughout the State. He was a gallant soldier during the war, and possesses qualifications, in addition to this great deserving, which will make him the efficient representative of a great constituency.

The sitting member from the same district, Hon. James Kennedy Moorhead, declined a reelection after having served his people with rare fidelity. On the 4th of March next his last term of five Congresses will expire, making ten years of consecutive devotion to the principles of his party and to the interests of his district. It is very interesting to note the rise of such men. Their record is an example unknown in the experience of other countries. General Moorhead was indeed the architect of his own fortunes. The head of a family of great influence all over the State, the eldest of three brothers—two of whom, J. Barlow Moorhead and W. G. Moorhead, are men of great wealth and conspicuous public spirit, and like him the builders of honorable reputations and the centres of extensive connections—it is worth remembering that General Moorhead began his career at the beginning of the century with a limited education and as a tanner's apprentice. He rose by undaunted perseverance and unchallenged integrity; and he leaves Congress loved by his own people and respected by men of all parties in Congress, having at all times been fearless in the expression of his sentiments and consistent in his votes as a thorough Republican. General Moorhead is only sixty-two, and his fine health, ripe experience, and complete personal independence will not be forgotten when the people look about them for trustworthy leaders in other high positions.

Hymnology.

Much has been said of the style of hymns that people may acceptably sing. The version and edition of the hymn book used will, in certain communities, settle a man's orthodoxy or hetrodoxy. We expect a Methodist to use Wesley's hymns; an Episcopalian the authorized church edition; an Independent Dr. Watt's Psalms and Hymns; Unitarians the collection by James Martineau, brother of the famous Harriet; Baptists part of Dr. Watt's, Gadsby's and others; the Reformed Presbyterians Rouse's version of the Psalms of David—though what there was peculiar in the genius of Rouse to fit him for the task of putting the sweet singer of Israel into common measure, eight line sixes, tens and elevens, and now and then transgressing all laws of rhythm, is beyond our natural comprehension. The Old and New School Presbyterians have their favorite selections.

There are authors of all opinions who have expressed themselves devotionally in strains that the most pious may endorse. Where is there a grander devotional hymn than that Burns wrote? Where a more whole souled composition than Byron's Prayer of Nature? Where loftier composition than the pure strains of Addison? Where finer religious poetry than John and Charles Wesley wrote; and Dr. Watts at times rises into grandeur. We shall not assign each verse or two to their authors, because we are quoting from memory, and the language and style are more particular than the name of the authors who gave the poetry to the world:

"From all that dwells below the skies,
Let the Creator's name arise,
Let the Redeemer's name be sung
Through every land by every tongue.

Eternal are Thy mercies, Lord,
Eternal truth attends Thy word,
Thy praise shall stretch from shore to shore,
Till suns shall rise to set no more."

Still in the same devotional and majestic strain we remember:

"Before Jehovah's awful throne,
Ye nations bow with sacred joy:
Know that the Lord is God alone,
He can create and he destroy.

His sovereign power without our aid,
Made us of clay and formed us men,
And when like wandering sheep we strayed,
He brought us to this fold again."

Again:

God, our Father, Great Creator,
At Thy feet we humbly bow,
Gratitude for boundless favor
Should in praise for ever flow.

Then that glorious

Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee?
Let the water and the blood
From Thy wounded side which poured,
Be of Sin the double cure,
Cleanse me from its guilt and power.

What a contrast the above forms to what appeared in an early edition of Dr. Watt's hymns, and which verse was afterwards expunged:

"So Sampson, when his locks were lost,
Met the Philistines to his cost,
Shook his vain limbs, and with surprise,
Found they'd put out both his eyes."

One useful anecdote concerning a Church version of the Psalms of David. A Bishop was visiting at the house of a nobleman, and engaged to preach in the Church on Sunday. The Bishop objected to the use of carriages on Sunday, and would walk to Church. The nobleman, in title, rode, according to his usual custom. The morning was wet. The Bishop started and trudged laboriously along the dirty road to Church. The nobleman leaned out of his carriage, when near the Bishop, and laughingly accosted his reverence thus:

"How blest is he who ne'er consents,
By ill advice to walk."

To which the Bishop replied:

"Nor stands in sinners' ways, nor sits
Where men profanely talk."

The Bishop, most decidedly, had the best of the nobleman.

One more story. 'Twas a country meeting house. The congregation praised the Lord by violin, clarionet and voice. David was the village tailor, and officiated as violin player on a Sunday in the church. David was vain of his playing, and considered that some notice should be taken of it. A favorite hymn with the minister was the one commencing:

"Sweet is the day of sacred rest,
No mortal cares shall seize my breast;
Oh may my heart in tune be found,
Like David's harp of solemn sound."

David, the violin player, informed the minister that he thought the last two lines of the verse might be improved. As they had no harp, and relied for sweet sounds on his violin, could they not sing:

"Oh may my heart in tune be found,
Like David's violin of sweetest sound."

The minister looked at David, and explained that violin would change the measure of the line and destroy the flow of the music, but if David had no objection he would give out the verse as follows:

"Sweet is the day of sacred rest,
No mortal cares shall seize my breast;
Oh, may my heart go diddle, diddle,
Like tailor David's little fiddle."

The vanity of David was cured, the sweet verse preserved in its purity for the congregation; and here we halt, to resume when opportunity serves.

PERSONAL.

—A Paris paper describes some of the contents of the Sultan of Turkey's treasury. The emeralds are said to be the largest in the world, and the pearls are unique in size and beauty. One of them, resembling in shape a pear, and white as snow, is three quarters of an inch in diameter, and a single emerald weighs 125 ounces. Among other treasures in this collection is a brooch, ornamented with 280 large diamonds, a dagger, enriched with jewels, and containing an emerald of 309 carats weight, and several necklaces of rubies and pearls, the latter as large as pigeons' eggs.

—It is said that the growing tastes of the Prince Imperial are leaning towards letter and art—a direction the Emperor neither expected nor unduly desired. This is the reason why the Prince's system of education has been materially changed, and visits to camps, fleets, military schools and spectacles are forcing Latin declensions and Greek verses into the shade. The Prince is growing up a healthy, but not a strong boy; is full of natural amiability, is acquiring his father's winning manner, and his mother's "sweet illuminating smile." The Emperor but lives for his son, and no son ever had a better Fenelon to educate him for the purple than the future Napoleon the Fourth has in his father.

—Mr. Seward, owing to the failure of the negotiations for the sale of St. Thomas, is not in good odor with the Danes. At one of the theaters in Copenhagen an actor recently sang a couplet, ridiculing Mr. Seward's real estate speculations. First, he had bought Alaska, and then not paid for it; and then he said he would buy St. Thomas, and finally backed out; the next thing would probably be to take an island or province, without either buying it or paying for it. The couplet was much applauded.

—There is to be another contest for the control of the New York Central Railroad at the next December election, and the sudden departure of Vice President Torrance for Europe is supposed to have some connection with it. William L. Doyle, the general ticket agent has been abroad for some time to obtain foreign proxies in the interest of the Corning-Keep party, and Mr. Torrance will of course work for his father-in-law, Vanderbilt.

—It is said that Mr. Weed will spend the summer in Europe. His health is seriously impaired. A New York letter says: "A friend of his told me last evening that the reason of this was that he had lately exhibited marked symptoms of mental derangement. Mr. Weed is about seventy-two years old, and if this is correct, he must have been attacked by softening of the brain. His extraordinary activity would be very likely to result in such an ending. He will leave no successor. Hugh Hastings, his lieutenant and editorial successor, can never wield the same influence; and no man on the radical side, so far, has shown equal talent. Mr. Seward will fade utterly away when Mr. Weed is gone."

Not a Pleasant Place.

Hilo is a pleasant place to live if a family can get used to a rocking of terra firma for breakfast, increased in intensity for dinner and a tumble, a crash and yawning fissures at night. A resident at Hilo thus describes a scene:

"All Hilo is in the greatest state of excitement. All are panic stricken. Thursday, the 2d, at 4:05 P. M., we experienced the most awful earthquake I have ever known. I was coming from the tannery to my store when I heard a loud rumbling noise like a number of iron carriages drawn over a rough road by wild horses. Soon the shock came, and I never shall forget it. The horses in the pasture took fright and ran and snorted, the dogs howled, the cocks crew and hens cackled, the pigeons flew as though some one had been firing among them. The shock lasted a good while, how long I cannot say, but long enough to make me feel sea-sick, and it was with difficulty that I could stand. On reaching the store such a sight and such a smell greeted me. All the bottles of pie fruits, preserves, sauces, spices, etc., were on the floor broken. The chimney of the cookhouse was thrown down and the end of the house burst open. All the stone-walls about town were flat; Reed's new house was also injured, the foundation is destroyed, some of the large pillar supports of lava are split. The sea receded some one hundred and fifty or two hundred feet, perhaps more, and when it came back it rose about ten feet above high water mark. No one slept on Thursday night, the earth was heaving constantly like a person breathing, and every once in a while it would give a shrug. To-day it is shaking every few minutes; my family are all out doors, afraid to stay in the house. As I am writing it is shaking, and occasionally I wait for it to subside to resume my writing. Blackpole arrived here to-day. He says the sea came in and completely demolished every house in the place, and carried off some one hundred and sixty-seven bags of pulu, the store and everything. He described the shock as more terrible than we had it here."

Then we red from Hildebrand, who has paid a visit to the great crater, of the volcano of Kilua, of the great fissure near the Puna road, of the great mud eruption and the great lava stream; and this adventurous traveler says: "Nearing the upper end of the Valley, where I expected to find the upper end of the fissure, I was surprised at the sudden appearance of a veritable cataract of lava coming down the precipitous side of the eastern hill, a height of nearly three hundred feet."

It is a favorite theory with some philosophers that the earth is a live animal, and that volcanic outbursts is when the body is out of order, the same as poor human nature when it cultivates a boil. We don't attach any importance to the theory, only if there be any semblance of truth in it, Hilo and neighborhood have earth boils badly.

POLITICAL.

The Tennessee delegates to the Democratic Convention are instructed for Andrew Johnson. The financial ides of Pendleton were indorsed. The rebel General Forrest, of Fort Pillow memory, is one of the delegates. The name of Mr. Bates was first reported, when a motion was made to substitute Forest's. A long and fierce debate ensued, in which Forest participated. The vote was in his favor. The announcement of the result was received with prolonged yells, proclaiming that the rebel element had triumphed; that the last pretences of Unionism were cast aside, and that the hero of the Fort Pillow massacre, the darling of the guerrillas and Ku-Klux, was presented to the world as a thoroughly appropriate representative of the Democracy of Tennessee.

John Morrissey denies that he intends to support Chief Justice Chase for the Democratic nomination at New York, but thinks that a majority of the delegation from the State will do so. He is for Pendleton.

The New York Sun, which is famous for "running rigs" about candidates has the following, which, by the way, is good enough to be true: "The Conservative Republicans of this State, of whom Mr. Thurlow Weed is the natural and recognized leader, have fixed upon the Hon. Horace Greeley as the candidate of the Republican party for Governor at the next election, and sincerely mean to support him with all their might at the Convention of July 8th."

The Republicans of the First Congressional District, Iowa, which has been represented since 1861 by the Hon. James Wilson, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, have nominated as his successor the Hon. George W. McCrary, of Lee county, a gentleman of considerable legislative experience.

General Beauregard, who is now in New York, says, in reference to the probable course of the Southern delegations in the Democratic National Convention, that it is extremely improbable that the votes of a single Southern State can be cast for the Democratic candidates; and therefore the Southern Democracy have no right to advise, much less to insist, upon the adoption of any special nominee by their Northern allies. The duty of the South is this: Accepting its situation, it will do its utmost to sustain whatever candidates shall appear most available and most likely to secure success in the judgment of the Northern delegations. For General Hancock all the white men in the South would turn out and work with great zeal, if he should happen to be the nominee; but if, in the judgment of the Northern delegations, success could only be secured by the nomination of Salmon P. Chase, upon any other platform than absolute negro suffrage, then the Southern white Democrats would gladly work for his election also. But if, unfortunately, the Northern delegations should put up such a platform as the Pendleton people of the West propose, out-Heroding that of the Republicans on the negro suffrage question, then the whites of the South would stay at home and let their Northern brethren take the chances of success or defeat without their assistance. Such are the views of Gen. Beauregard and those whom he represents.

Pendleton clubs find poor encouragement at New York; and the knowing Democrats of that city are offering bets that Chase or Hendricks will be the nominee of the Fourth of July Convention. The Hancock men are going over to Chase, and it is said that the Pendleton vote will be given to him, when it is apparent that "Young Greenbacks" cannot be nominated.

Science Advances.

As soon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their depleted purses by counterfeiting, and substituting a spurious for the genuine article. Some time since, mercury in the disguise of pills, powders, &c., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS made its advent, and an entire new system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlightened age has consigned them. There have been many spurious Bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while HOSTETTER'S has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration to health and strength.

For many years we have watched the steady progress of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in public estimation, and its beneficial effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach, of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and sifting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted.

Similia Similibus Curantur.

FOR SORE, WEAK, INFLAMED EYES AND EYELIDS.

A true specific and invaluable remedy has been at last discovered. Dr. Humphreys argues that these affections invariably result from a constitutional disease, of which the local affection is only the outward manifestation. Hence, HUMPHREYS' SPECIFIC HOMEOPATHIC OPTHALMY PILLS are only taken internally, and yet cure the worst forms of obstinate sore eyes and eyelids, which have resisted all other treatment. All cases of sore and inflamed eyes and eyelids, or failing, weak or defective sight, will be promptly benefited, and the cure of the worst cases is only a question of time. Price 50 cents, with directions.

FAMILY CASES

Of 35 large vials, morocco case, containing a specific for every ordinary disease a family is subject to, and a book of directions, $10 00

Smaller FAMILY and TRAVELING cases, with 20 to 28 vials, from - - - $5 to 8

FINANCE AND TRADE.

THURSDAY EVENING, June 11, 1868.

The business of the week thus far has been very quiet, both in financial and commercial circles. The tide of currency continues to flow eastward, and money is accumulating there in superabundance. Money has not been so plenty for years. In Pittsburgh there is no plethora—there never is and it is doubtful whether there ever will be—such a liberal supply of capital as is reported at the Eastern centers. Nevertheless borrowers have no good cause for complaint. Discounts are now more easily procured at very moderate rates. The banks are glad to take all strictly commercial paper offering on acceptable terms. Thus it will be perceived that every reasonable requirement of business is fully met by our banking institutions.

—Gold was stronger to-day, fluctuating between 139⅝ and 140.

—The New York stock market is without animation. The business is said to be chiefly restricted to regular dealers, who avail themselves of the slight fluctuations in prices between the several boards to make transactions by which to realize small profits. Reading took a sudden spurt upward to-day, selling as high as 95¼. The remainder of the list was comparatively unchanged.

The following comparative statement, furnished by J. W. Kennedy, Broker, 80 Fourth street, shows the range of prices for the past week at the New York Stock Boards:

	June 11.	10.	9.	8.	6.	5.
N. Y. Central	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

—For express stocks the quotations compare as follows:

[illegible]

—From present indications it is thought that the dealings in government stocks this week will not reach the aggregate of preceding weeks, though it has been noticed hitherto that the major part of the dealings are usually in the latter days in the week. It might be inferred from the great volume of these transactions—sometimes near $100,000,000 per week in the New York market, that large income therefrom results to dealers. The main transactions, however, which are generally in large blocks, are on the basis of ⅛ 1-32 per cent. for commissions, though ¼ per cent is usually charged, as in other stocks. In facilitation of government dealings, sometimes, lower rates have been generally acceded to, and it is likely, in the same view, that in stamp duty 10 cents per $1,000 will be omitted from the present tax lists, as imposing a burden by government on dealings in its own securities.

James T. Brady & Co., Brokers, corner of Fourth and Wood streets, furnish the annexed comparative range of prices for government securities:

[illegible]

Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co., report the following quotations of Government bonds in New York to-day, as furnished them by Jay Cooke & Co., their correspondents:

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY EVENING, June 11, 1868.

The general markets continue very dull with but little prospect at present of any immediate improvement. The demand for almost everything is confined entirely to supplying immediate wants, and as a consequence we have but round lot operations to report; so far as values are concerned, there are no changes worthy of special notice.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, June 12, 1868.

BUSINESS.—The market since our last was not very active, dealers generally being inclined to hold off. The operations in crude were light, there being a difference of ¼ to ½c ℔ gallon between dealers; the result was a quiet market with few sales to record. New York quiet but firm; prime light straw to white 29c; standard white 29½@30c; crude bulk, 14c. Oil City—prices nominal at $4 75 ℔ barrel.

REFINED OIL.—The market was firm at a further advance for future delivery; we are reported the following sales: 4,000 bbls standard white, Philadelphia, last half July, 31½c; 500 bbls, August, 32c; sales 500 bbls do, September, 32c; sales 2,500 bbls, from August to September, 500 each month, 32c ℔ gallon; sales 500 bbls, July, 500 bbls, August, last half buyer's option, 31½c.

CRUDE OIL.—The sales were confined to a single operation of 2,000 barrels spot at 11¾c; most dealers are holding out for 12c, spot.

PENNSYLVANIA CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, Thursday, June 11, 1868.

CATTLE—The market was a dull one. Prices have further declined. The sales, however, show an increase over last week of 137 head. Eastern buyers were not on hand, whilst regular dealers manifested but little disposition to operate. The decline in prices was marked. As usual, the principal inquiry was for good fat cattle. Other descriptions were neglected.

The operations for the past three weeks were:

May 28	148	$8 00@9 50
June 4	75	3 00@9 50
June 11	212	5 00@8 55

Among the offerings Harft & Hays had 12 cars of Kentucky cattle, and Bedford & Co. 4 cars, for which $10 ℔ cwt was demanded. If not disposed of they will be forwarded East.

SHEEP—The market was moderately active during the week. The number sold show that a good business was transacted. Prices, owing to heavy receipts, declined. The market closed with the advantage on the side of buyers. The operations for the past three weeks were:

May 28	11,041	$3 00@7 50
June 4	5,357	3 00@7 50
June 11	6,919	3 00@6 25

Showing an increase in sales of 1,602 head.

HOGS—There was a fair business transacted in hogs during the week. The sales were materially larger than the week previous, with a decline in prices on common descriptions of $1 25 per cwt. Good smooth fat hogs, suitable for shipment, sold at last week's prices. The sales for the past three week's were:

May 28	5,065	$8 20@10 40
June 4	3,900	7 75@10 40
June 11	5,385	6 50@10 35

The week's increase in sales were 1,485 head.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY, June 11, 1868.

CATTLE—The market contained an ample supply, it being estimated that the offerings exceeded seven hundred and fifty head. The high prices that have ruled for some weeks appear to have stimulated dealers who were not slow in forwarding their stock to market. The increased receipts caused buyers to hold off of purchase very sparingly. The market closed dull with a downward tendency. The largest portion of the offerings were from Chicago. This, however, has been the situation of affairs for some time. We have had moderate offerings from Pennsylvania, Indiana, Iowa and Ohio. Eastern buyers were not on hand as usual. The demand for common and inferior lots were limited. The operations for the past three weeks were:

May 28	625	$7 00@9 75
June 4	640	5 25@9 50
June 11	625	4 50@9 50

The above shows a decline in prices and a falling off in sales of 20 head.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.—The market was largely supplied, every pen and available space being occupied. The supply was in excess of the demand. At the close of the market a number of round lots were left over. The market was decidedly one of the dullest of the season. Prices further declined.

Beeler sold 40 head sheep for which he asked $4 00, and 20 lambs held at $1 50@2 50.

M. Humes sold 60 head at $3 00@4 50 for sheep, and lambs averaged $3 00.

McCaslin sold 85 head of good sheep to Stakely & Bro. at $1 87½ ℔ head.

George Maxwell sold for Robert Maxwell 35 head; 15 for $46 00, and 20 at 5 15 ℔ ℔.

J. G. Glenn had 50 head; held at 5c.

Johnson and War Eagle five miles below; passed the Deer Lodge under way at Cedar Island; passed the Success under way at Fort Randall; 7th, arrived at Sioux City at two P. M.

MATTERS AND THINGS ALONG THE WHARF.—Business on the landing was not active. The dull season has been fairly inaugurated. Boats, however, by loading in time manage to pick up a paying trip. The Wild Duck and barges left for St. Louis with all the freight she wanted, consisting of 1,904 rails of railroad iron for the North Missouri Railroad and 600 tons of miscellaneous freight, making in all 1,040 tons. The Maggie Hays left for St. Louis with 650 tons and a fair passenger trip. The next boat in turn is the Wauanita, leaving on Saturday. The Portsmouth packet, Robert Moore, Capt. Kerr, takes her departure for that and way points at four P. M. The St. Charles, Capt. Dravo, is the Friday packet for Cincinnati at five P. M. The R. C. Gray, Capt. Anderson, leaves for Cincinnati and Louisville on Saturday without fail. The Argosy, Capt. Vandergrift, leaves for Cincinnati and Louisville on Saturday. The Parkersburg packet for this day is the Bayard, Capt. Shepherd, leaving at noon. The Ingomar, Capt. Kemple, leaves at eleven A. M. for Wheeling. The large boats have been compelled to haul off on the Monongahela on account of low water. The Glendale, Capt. Hare, leaves for St Louis and Missouri river at four P. M. positively.

THE steamer Delaware, Captain Calhoun, left Nashville for Pittsburgh on Tuesday.

THE Steamer Leni Leoti, Captain Hamilton, arrived at St. Louis on Tuesday. She will reload her freight and proceed up the river.

THE receipts at the United States Custom House at Memphis for the past month, on account of customs were $600; and on account of steamboats $985.

THE steamer Lansing has been sold at auction at Dubuque, for $4,100. She will be used as a ferry at Eagle Point.

THE Centralia, which was sunk a few days ago in the Arkansas, will be wrecked. Commodore Adams will purchase another boat to take her place in the line.

JEFFERSONVILLE, June 9, 8 P. M.—River falling slowly, with four feet in the pass over the Falls. Clear. Wind northeast. Thermometer 70 degrees. No business on the Falls to-day.

THE water in the Monongahela is too low for navigable purposes. The large boats have been compelled to haul off until there is more water.

THE first class freight boat R. C. Gray, Captain W. B. Anderson, is loading for Cincinnati and Louisville, and will leave on Saturday positively. This boat will receipt for Cairo, Memphis and New Orleans freight.

THE first-class packet Wauanita, Capt Thomas Shuman, leaves for Cairo, St. Louis and St. Paul, on Saturday—loading in connection with the Northern Line Packet Company. The Wauanita is one of the best boats of her class afloat, and is in charge of careful and attentive officers.

THE New Albany Ledger says: Robinson Crusoe, a negro cook, who has been running on the Lower Ohio river, has received a dispatch from St Louis, notifying him of a legal decision by which he comes into possession of a piece of real estate worth $5,000. He started for Missouri in a hurry.

HO FOR CINCINNATI.—The splendid side-wheel passenger packet "St. Charles," Capt. C. A. Dravo, takes her departure from this port every Friday at 5 P. M. This boat has unsurpassed accommodations, and is in charge of officers that would make a less worthy boat popular. The financial department is in charge of Capt. A. Robinson, one of the most accomplished officers that comes to this port. We take pleasure in recommending boat and officers.

THE fine passenger packet "Argosy," Capt. L. Vandergrift, takes her departure for Cincinnati and Louisville on Saturday, positively. The "Argosy" will receipt for Memphis and New Orleans freight. This boat is well found in every respect, and is in charge of careful and experienced officers. Mr. Scott, who presides in the office, will see that passengers have the best of attention.

SITUATION OF BOATS ON THE MONONGAHELA.—The low water produced by the break in Dam No. 2, is beginning to interfere with navigation. Yesterday the boats were located as follows: Bennett laid up at Brown's Coal Works in Pool No. 1. The Active, that arrived on Thursday morning, reports the Elizabeth hard aground at Bridenthal's Bar. The Bennett spent several hours trying to get her off but failed. She will probably have to wait for a rise of water. The Ida Rees No. 2, of the Peoples' Line, that left on Wednesday evening, was aground at Peters' Creek.

HO FOR MISSOURI RIVER.—The elegant passenger steamer Glendale, J. M. Hare, commander, takes her departure this day positively for St. Louis and the Missouri river. This boat has unsurpassed accommodations. Passengers who have traveled on her speak in flattering terms of her appointments. Captain Hare has hosts of friends and does credit to their friendship. The first clerk is our esteemed friend Captain James Mellon, an officer who stands at the head of his profession. Don't forget the Glendale, at the foot of Liberty street.

THE punctual passenger steamer Robert Moore takes her departure this day, at 4 P. M., for Wheeling, Marietta, Parkersburg, Ironton and Portsmouth. The Moore is one of the most punctual steamers that comes to this port. When Captain Kerr says 4 P. M. he means just that time and no other. By the way, this boat brings a large trade to our city. Merchants of the river towns take passage on the Moore, purchase their goods, have them shipped, and return in the same boat. In that way no time is lost, nor is there any waiting for their purchases. Captain Kerr brings a large custom to our city, and we are glad to see the business of the Moore increasing. Captain Kerr is ably assisted by our old friend Wm. Anderson, one of the most correct, careful and attentive officers that comes to this port. Don't forget the hour, 4 P. M.

ST. LOUIS.—The owners of the steamer Gerard Allen were awarded the Government contract to transport 350 tons to Forts Rice and Stevenson at $42 per ton.

The Success is announced to leave on the 15th, on her second trip to Fort Benton.

The river is rising here and at Keokuk, but is falling at Dubuque. The Missouri is rising at Omaha and falling at St. Joseph. The Lady Grace has arrived. The Messenger and Anna will leave to-day.

The Only Chance, on her way to Fort Benton, was several times fired into by the Indians. In one encounter two Indians were killed, and several wounded. Two of the boat's party were wounded.

She brought down $50,000 in gold dust for St. Louis houses, and a large amount of skins.

CAIRO, June 9—9 P. M.—The Ella Hughes, from Cumberland River to return, brought 550 bbls meat and 17 hhds tobacco for reshipment South. 1,000 cedar posts and 20 tons iron for St. Louis, 290 bags corn for Cairo. The Greyhound brought a tow of Pittsburgh coal, and returned light. The circus boat Coosa arrived this morning; she goes up the Mississippi River. The Quickstep brought a slim freight and good passenger trip. The Emma No. 3 and Mary Davage were well laden. The snagboat Albert is cutting up a snag opposite Bird's Point, which has been much in the way of steamers. She will finish to-night, and proceed to Island No. 1, where several snags claim her attention. The Mohawk, from St. Louis to New Orleans; Marble City, from St Louis to Memphis, and Shark, from New Orleans to St. Louis, passed to-day. River stationary. Clear and cool. The A. J. Baker passed up the Ohio without barges, four days and seventeen hours out from New Orleans. She passed the Louisiana, Olive Branch, and Shark coming up.
